

MAP (Migration Acceleration Program)

Overcoming migration obstacles

Migrating data from on-premises to the cloud can be unsettling without a complete and thorough plan. Many organizations face uncertainties around duration, execution, and disruption. A Migration Acceleration Program (MAP) is designed to address these issues and provide a clear, detailed pathway to successful cloud migration.

Common Migration Problems

Uncertain Duration

The complexity of cloud migration is often underestimated. Without a clear timeline, projects often extend beyond their intended duration, causing delays and additional costs.

Execution Concerns

The technical and logistical challenges of migrating to the cloud can be overwhelming. Incompatible legacy systems, data transfer issues, and insufficient planning can derail migration progress.

Disruption Fears

Business operations are at risk during migration. Unplanned downtime and data loss can impact productivity and revenue.

Risk & Cost Management

Mismanaged resources and inefficient strategies can lead to overspending and project failure.

The Opportunity with MAP

Transparency is at the core of our MAP services. Here’s how it helps:

1

Detailed risk mitigation plan

A comprehensive strategy designed to minimize risks at every stage of the migration.

2

Cost minimization strategy

Outlines methods to control costs and avoid unexpected expenses. We guarantee a fixed migration cost and absorb any overruns.

3

Tailored project timeline

On average a MAP Assessment will take take 4-6 weeks to complete, after which we provide a full project timeline that allows for precise future planning. It includes a 5-year Total Cost of Ownership (TCO) forecast, covering migration and operational costs offset against the cost of maintaining a traditional data center.

Manage Future Risks

Ignoring these migration issues can lead to:

Project Overspend & Overrun

Business operations are at risk during migration. Unplanned downtime and data loss can impact productivity and revenue.

Downtime & Business Disruption

Unplanned downtime can severely disrupt business operations and cause significant loss.
